Reasons for Allowance

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

The prior art has disclosed the blending of low density ethylene polymers for the purpose of improving film qualities such as haze and Dart impact, and has also recognized that control of branching of the respective polymer components is an important factor in determining such properties in the final film (US 4,438,238; Cooke et al. ANTEC '89). However, the references cited on this record have not disclosed or suggested a substantially linear polyethylene composition which has the required properties and components having the claimed levels of long chain branching. No motivation can be found for combining component polymers in such a manner to arrive at a composition with all of the claimed properties.
